EXPIRATION DATE FOR YOUR ASBESTOS CONTRACTOR CERTIFICATE and PRORATING THE FEE

Asbestos contractor certifications cannot be granted for more than one year and must be set to expire at the same time as your contractor registration. If your contractor registration is expiring more than 12 months from now we will still set your asbestos contractor registration to the same date of the year, but no more than 12 months from the current date. (For example, if we were processing your application on January 12, 2006, and your contractor registration expiration date were July 22, 2007, your asbestos contractor certification will expire July 22, 2006.) This most commonly effects new applications, but may effect renewals if your registration expiration date has changed.

If your certificate will be granted for less than a full year, the $1050 annual fee can be prorated. The prorating is based on the number of months or partial months that will be covered by the certificate. (For the above example, the period from January 12, 2006, to July 22, 2006, is counted as 7 months. There six full months up to July 12 and a partial month completing the period to July 22.) The prorated fee is $87.50 per month or partial month.
